

PCA Adds Staff Position

To further our goal of complete customer satisfaction PCA has hired Andy Matola as Sales Engineer. In this position Andy will be working closely with our customers on their electrical wiring needs. As Sales Engineer he will be interacting with both Sales and Engineering to ensure a clear flow of information on our customers' needs.

"This new position will give us the ability to further distinguish ourselves as a full service organization and help us meet the growing needs of our customers," stated President Rich Horky in his announcement.

Andy is a degreed Mechanical Engineer from the University of Wisconsin Madison and brings to the table not only an engineering background but also experience in working on customer driven projects.
